

WEEKLY REPUBLICAN-1911.
DAILY PUBLIC LEDGER-1912

MAYSVILLE, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, MAY 3, 1916.

ONE COPY—ONE CENT.

NO PRACTICE TUESDAY.
The wet weather of Tuesday kept Manager Jimmy Jones and his crew from getting in any practice at League Park. Weather permitting the players will begin practicing in both the morning and afternoon immediately. Manager Jones is confident that all the players will be in first-class shape when the season starts.

The old Methodist church at Murphysville was sold at public auction Tuesday to W. L. Gault.

CHARLESTON OFFICIALS COME AFTER YATES.

Chief of Police I. A. McCowan of Charleston, W. Va., arrived here Tuesday afternoon from Frankfort with requisition papers for the return of Ben Yates, wanted in Charleston on a charge of grand larceny. He returned to Charleston with his prisoner Tuesday evening.

Mr. J. R. Burgess, patient at Hayswood Hospital, leaves today for his county home very much improved.

"JIMMIE" JONES

Some Facts of Interest For the Fans Concerning the New Pilot For the Burley Cubs For the 1916 Season.

James T. Jones, new manager of the local Ohio State League baseball club for the coming season, is a Kentuckian, having been reared at London, Laurel county. He bears the distinction of having played longer in Class A baseball than most any player in the country. Out of seventeen years of service, fifteen have been in Class A or better.

Under the leadership of "Jimmy" McAleer he began his professional career with the Cleveland American League club in 1899. In 1900 he joined the New York Nationals and was a member of that club when the famous Mathewson joined it. He was sent to Toronto in the Eastern League in 1902 and played in that league until 1911, when he managed the Richmond team in the old Blue Grass League. In 1912 he again went to Class A company, playing with the Columbus American Association team. In the spring of 1913 he and Kemper Shelton, formerly manager of the local team and this year with the Huntington team, had a collision while running after a fly ball and Jones' jaw was broken in two places, both being sent to the hospital for some time. After his recovery he was traded to Milwaukee and was a member of that team when it won the pennant in 1914. Last season he headed the Frankfort team in this league and is now manager of the local team.

As a manager for three years his clubs have never finished lower than second and it looks as if he is going to keep up his good record by giving Mayaville a team that will be in the running all the way.

NEW PLAYERS ARRIVE.

Catcher O'Connor arrived Tuesday afternoon for a tryout with the local club. He went south this spring with the Philadelphia Nationals and is now in good condition. He is said to be a fast man.

Infielder Slinker of Springfield, O., arrived Tuesday. He has been playing with the team at that place this spring and is in excellent condition.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Forest Avenue M. E. church will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Charles Cox on Central avenue. All members urged to be present.

DOC. IS SOME FISHERMAN.

(Fleming Gazette.)
Friday afternoon Dr. Edwin Mathews, wife and son passed through here en route back to Mayaville, having spent several days at Park Lake. They had with them a fine six and a half pound bass besides several good catfish or two. The bass was caught on a short line tied to a beer bottle, which might explain Brer Duley's failure to land one like it, he having gone out Thursday to try his luck.

ATTENTION, SUFFRAGETTES.

The last regular meeting of the Mason County Woman's Suffrage League before the coming of the Federation will be held at the Public Library Thursday, May 4, at 2 p. m.

A full attendance is necessary to adequate preparations for the suffrage session to be held Friday evening, May 19, at the Washington Opera House.

Other matters of importance must be provided for and every friend of woman suffrage is urged to be present. Please be prompt.
ALICE LLOYD, President.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY.

On Friday night, May 5th, will be given the annual play of the Senior class. This class of thirty-eight members is 65 per cent larger than any class that has ever been graduated from the Mayaville High School. Twenty-eight of them constitute the "dramatic personnel" of George Eliot's well known classic, "Silas Marner." They have been practicing for several weeks under Miss Shaw's tutelage and are going to present a forceful and vivid dramatization of this well known novel. Many of the scenes offer opportunities for intense dramatic action, which a number of the characters present with marked ability. Get your reserved seats at Williams' Drugstore.
